

"If you pit a good performer against a bad system, the system will win almost every time. We spend too much of our time fixing people who are not broken, and not enough time fixing organization systems that are broken. All too often management relies on individual or team heroics to overcome fundamentally flawed processes."

Improving Performance

"Work on those processes which will help you create and keep customers. Then, by focusing on key business processes, one is already implicitly hearing the voice of the customer."

How Do We Raise the Bar?

How Do We Improve Sales Performance?

How Do We Establish a Framework for Sales Excellence?

These are questions every sales executive asks at one time or another. Indeed, raising the bar is not easy, and yet it must be done if we are to compete in today's ever changing marketplace.

In selling, process is key. Superior selling organizations clearly define and document their sales process to ensure everyone understands the most promising paths to success, and then execute against them. They are systems-centered in the way they execute their go-to-market strategies and plans. They train their salespeople to be process thinkers.

Yet, we estimate that 90% of selling organizations today have not documented their sales process.

Most have not stepped back to assess how they want to sell, or examined in-depth how the customer buys.

It's a shame.

So, What is SalesMapsm?

The SalesMapsm Design Process is a highly interactive and engaging set of activities to help your sales team define their best go-to-market practices, and then document them as your organization's framework for selling excellence

How SalesMapsm Works

We begin by first interviewing members of your Senior Leadership team to understand your vision, the direction for your organization, the competitive challenges ahead, and what business issues the sales force is facing.

We then assist you to select master sellers, a process champion, and support team members whose insights and experiences will be used to shape the initial process map. This team will then participate in a highly interactive, fun, two-day design event to capture their views on customer expectations, and identify the best practices used most consistently to achieve sales objectives while exceeding customer requirements. A preliminary model is then prepared that reflects those best practices.

What Other Organizations Are Saying

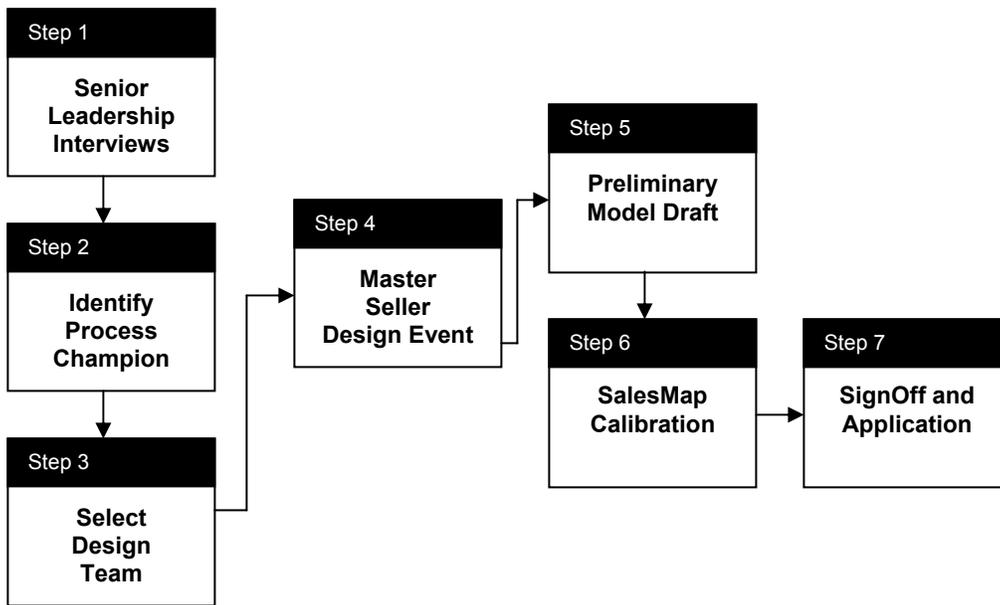

Mapping the sales process was an awesome experience. It challenged us to think critically, to understand our best practices, and to motivate ourselves on how to move to the next level.

We finalize the SalesMapsm by calibrating and testing the sales methodology with the design team and other sales professionals who were not involved in the design. This ensures understanding and buy-in across your selling team, and allows us to "clean" the model to ensure it aligns with your direction and future plans.

Sign-off and application follows, with roll-out to your organization dependent on your specific strategies.

- Challenge your existing selling practices by working in teams, defining the key activities, tasks, and observable outcomes of each key step
- Participate in large and small group discussions to share experiences of what works well and strategize on the tools and resources needed to succeed
- Apply the process by using the map as the focus for assessing every sales cycle, and determine where improvements can be made.
